

A hand-drawn illustration of an unrolled scroll. The scroll is drawn with thick black outlines and has a dashed line along its length to represent the binding. It is held open by four wooden rollers, one at each corner. The text of the Preamble to the United States Constitution is written in a simple, sans-serif font across the center of the scroll.

We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.